Mrs Cox figured prominently before the public in a suit which she brought against Cassius H. Read, formerly one of the proprietors of the Hoffman House, for $50,000 damages, claiming that he had conspired to ruin her daughter. The auit was dismissed, and Mrs. Cox's daughter. Clera M. Totten, then sued Read for $100,000 damages for breach of promise of marriage. She recovered a verdict for $15,000, which was subsequently set aside on appeal Mrs. Ella H. Johnson, one of Mrs. Cox's daughters, was the only witness examined this morning. She described the accident in which her mother was struck in the back by the corner of a table, which was being carried through an alsie. Francis L. Wellman, counsel for de-fendants, commented upon the fact that Mrs. Johnson told her story in substan-tially the same way as had her mother yesterday.

Dr. Hosenblueth yesterday tested some of the child's secretions, and was convirced that Tilli's had partaken of arsenic inclosed in something, supposedly the "April fool candy." He summoned Coroner O'Meagher in the afternoon, but Tillie was already unconscious and dying.

When Policeman Tappen, of the East Eighty-eighth street station took Eva Harfield to her former schoolmate's bedside, the dying child was unable to identify the little friend she had so innocently accused.

The police are trying to find where the candy was bought, and an autopsy will be performed.

John Von Hoste, of 118 East Eighty-seventh street, whose candy store the children most generally patronize, has sent several pleces of his "April Fool" candy to the Board of Health to have it analyzed and to determine whether it contained any poison.

The police of the East Eighty-eighth street station will take no action in the case until the autopsy has been made. They will not arrest Eva Harfield, as she is under the legal age.

In fact, the police have practically acknowledged their failure to unearth the slightest clue to the mystery by openly advancing the theory that no murder was committed at all, and that the wound from which the young woman was found bleeding to death was inflicted by herself. They cannot give any satisfactory explanation, however, of the terrible hruises and contusions with which her body was literally covered, and which the autopsy performed by Deputy Coroner O'Hanlon showed beyond a doubt to have been recently inflicted.

true, she will be led to the altar by Walter Jones, who rose to fame as the impersonator of "Warry Faggles," the tramp, in the play of "1492."

The story, it is said, comes from a brother of Mr. Jones, who recently confided to some of his friends that the wedding would soon take place.

Miss Russell has already made three experiments in the marriage line, all of which proved to be lamentable failures. Her first husband was John Braham, a brother of "Dave" Braham, of "Mulligan's Picale" fame. He got the divorce. Then she married "Teddy" Soloman, the comic opera composer. She was divorced from him.

Signor Perugini, her leading tenor, was No. 3. Separation and divorce soon followed.

None of them succeeded in making her happy.

The benefit which I have received from your treatment demonstrates to me that it is su-perior to anything else."

BRONCHIAL AND HEART TROUBLE. "To-day, God bless you! I am a different woman from what I was." This is the way Mrs. A. Mooney, 567 Newark ave., Hoboken, N. J., commences her letter. Then she goes on to say that she suffered from Bronchia Heart Trouble, to describe her cough, her nervous and despondent periods, her weakness, her husky voice, altacks of shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart and wheeting. She describes all this at length and winds up the letter again with the phrase: "God bless you, for all you have done for me,"

THE HEARING RESTORED. Mr. Daniel W. Booth, of Portchester, N. Y., says: "I cannot refrain from writing you re-garding the rapid improvement in my case. I had ringing in the cars, my hearing was af-fected, I suffered from headaches and a general depression. Now I am nearly well."
